Labor Chief Asks Help for Democrats

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—J. P. Lybrand, executive secretary of the state Democratic Party, asked the delegates to the state AFL-CIO convention Wednesday to help the Democrats in "recapturing the state-house."

Lybrand told the convention that the Democratic Party is not afraid to move forward with new ideas although it is the country's oldest party. Lybrand promised the delegates that the Democratic Party's candidates in the future would be the type who would capture the hopes and imagination of all the people in the state.

J. Bill Becker, president of the Arkansas AFL-CIO, urged the Democratic Party to come up with candidates who have ideas and outlooks labor could honestly support.

Becker said that if the national Democratic Party had been under the influence of the Arkansas delegation in recent years its accomplishments would not have occurred.

Bert Seidman, director of the union's Social Security Department, urged the group to support the President's program as stated in HR5710 currently pending before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Maintained They Were Innocent

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Two young Negro brothers, held in jail for 24 days in lieu of $10,000 bonds in connection with a $120 robbery, were freed Thursday after two other persons were arrested and charged in connection with the holdup. The brothers, Nathaniel and Australia Reed, were arrested May 15 and charged with robbing a service station here. Circuit Judge Henry W. Smith set bond in their case at $10,000 each. As a result, Australia, 19, a student at Merrill High School, spent his graduation night in jail.

George Howard Jr., attorney for Australia Reed, attempted to get the bail reduced to $2,000 claiming that the amount Smith set was unreasonably high. Smith refused the request. Howard then appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court which ordered the bond to be reduced to $2,000 each.

The brothers maintained all along that they were innocent. Royal guardsmen of Greece wear bouffant skirts, tasseled garters and white tights.

Evangelist Martinez Tells 1,200 About Conversion to Christ

By LEONARD ELLIS

On a hot summer night, July 8, 1935, Angel Martinez was converted in a Baptist mission their every move. "Sunday came. I was nervous, and preached his first sermon in September of the same year. I immediately he began to get invitations for revivals and has averaged better than a sermon a day during the past 34 years. During this time he has seen approximately 132,000 persons accept Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior.

He told the story last night, a simple but dramatic one, to a jammed-packed audience at First Baptist Church—an audience that filled the 900 seats on the main floor, the 200 seats in the balcony, the 42 seats in the choir loft, and then sat in the aisles and listened intently.

When he finished, the choir sang "Just As I Am," and 44 persons left their seats and responded to the invitation, bringing the total to date to 105 decisions for Christ.

Mr. Martinez told the audience he was a native of San Antonio, the eldest of five children. His father was born in Spain, his mother in Mexico. All were devout Catholics. His mother had prayed that Angel would grow up to become a Catholic priest.

After rejecting 25 invitations to attend the Baptist mission, the lure of ice cream and cookies was too much for Angel Martinez, who had not tasted ice cream in the past year because it was considered too much of a luxury food item in the depths of a boll-weevil depression.

"After attending the mission church for the first time on Sunday afternoon, I went back Sunday night expecting more ice cream, but instead an old man opened the Bible and preached a sermon the like of which I had never heard before.

"He talked about how to be saved. I left the meeting confused, but concerned. I went back Monday night, Tuesday night and again Wednesday night. By then I was intensely concerned. The preacher recited John 3:16. "That did something to my heart."

"I left my seat, hurried to the front and told the preacher I wanted to be saved. I was thrilled and humbled. When my mother and father learned I had accepted Christ in the Baptist mission, they literally went to pieces. For the next two months I was a 'stranger' in my own home.

"In September, two months after my conversion, I was asked to preach my first sermon. The women of the mission gave me a pair of shoes. I had never had a pair of shoes. Another woman gave me a shirt, and a third one gave me a pair of trousers. "I then had four days to get ready. I went to the mission every night, studied the postures, the mannerisms of the preachers, converted in a Baptist mission their every move. "Sunday came. Redistrict Bill Proves Very Strict

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP)—Surprisingly overriding committee recommendations, the Senate has approved a strict congressional redistricting bill that would force reapportionment in 33 states by next year.

The Senate action slashed by two-thirds—from 30 per cent to 10 per cent—the variation in district population allowable within each state under the bill as it passed the House.

The measure now goes to a Senate-House conference committee amid predictions a compromise between the 30 per cent and 10 per cent figures will be reached.

The Senate first voted 44 to 39 Thursday for an amendment by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., that inserted the 10 per cent limit. It then passed the bill 57 to 25.

The two votes represented a personal triumph for Kennedy, who had lost 11 to 4 when he offered the same proposal in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Kennedy and other backers had claimed variations of more than 10 per cent would clash with the Supreme Court's historic one-man-one-vote reapportionment rulings.

The House previously had approved legislation providing for a 30 per cent variation next year and a 10 per cent spread starting in 1972, and the Senate Judiciary Committee had increased the variation for the next four years to 35 per cent.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee, and Rep. James C. Corman, D-Calif., who authored the House bill, both expressed pleasure with the Senate developments, lauding especially a change which restores language to prevent gerrymandering of districts.

The Senate bill says districts must be as compact as practicable, while the House measure says they shall be as compact as the states find practicable. Opponents charged the House language opened the way to distorted districts with the possibility federal courts might have no jurisdiction to review them.

Celler said he was uncertain how far the House would go toward accepting the Senate changes, while Corman said he thought some compromise between the 10 and 30 per cent figures was likely.

Under the 30 per cent provision, eight states would be required to reapportion House districts for the 1980 election. They are New York, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Nebraska, West Virginia, Ohio, California and Georgia.

By cutting this to 10 per cent, the Senate bill would require reapportionment in 23 additional states: Alabama, Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas and Virginia.

By banning at-large elections in states with more than one representative, it also would force districts to be drawn in New Mexico and Hawaii, which each elect their two members at large. The House bill would permit the at-large arrangement to continue until 1972.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., arguing against Kennedy's proposal, said it would require many special legislative sessions before next spring's primary elections.

The Supreme Court's two most recent congressional districting rulings, affecting Missouri and Indiana, ruled unconstitutional apportionments that showed variations of about 20 per cent between the largest and smallest districts in the state.

Club Charters Are Revoked

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The charters of three private clubs were revoked here Thursday by Circuit Judge William J. Kirby, including one that was the scene of a fatal shooting last Sept. 3.

Kirby, acting on charges by Pros. Atty. Richard B. Adkisson that the clubs failed to maintain registered agents for 90 days as required by law, lifted the charters of the Patio Club, the Trade Winds Club and the Working Man's Club.

Mrs. Betty Jean Solomon, 43, of Little Rock, was shot to death last Sept. 3 at the Working Man's Club.

Russell M. Lewis, 61, of Sweet Home, the club operator, was acquitted last month in circuit court of a charge of manslaughter.

National Delegate

Shirley McMillen, of Hempstead County, has been selected as one of thirty-five 4-H delegates to attend the National 4-H Citizenship Short Course at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C., the week of June 25.

This is the first group of 117 to attend from Arkansas this year according to Dolores McBride, Extension Home Economist.

Shirley is the daughter of Mrs. Rennie McMillen. The 4-H'er is a member of the Victory 4-H Club having served as Secretary, Photographer and Recreational Leader.

She has taken 4-H projects in Beef, Sewing, Soil Conservation, Home Improvement, Horse Training, and Forestry, receiving special pins of county recognition for work in Beef, Home Improvement, and Forestry. Shirley has participated in County and 4-States Dress Reuses, cooking contest and was selected this year as an alternate county representative in the State modeling activity.

Shirley has been an active participant in the Southwest District Livestock Shows, winning Grand Champion Hereford twice and 2nd and 3rd on bulls. She is a member of the Hope F.H.A. and by 123 Arkansas banks that contributed to a special 4-H Fund under the leadership of P. L. Copeland, president of the Merchants and Planters Bank of Newport. The Hempstead County 4-H Council will be providing part of the other expenses.

Accompanying this group will be D. S. Lantrip and L. L. Phillips, 4-H club agents of the State Extension Service, and two adult leaders, Mrs. Elizo Milligan of Lawrence County and Mrs. Audrey Rose of Izard County.

Enemy Guns Hit Ancient City of Hue

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP)—Communist gunners have raked the ancient city of Hue with mortar barages for the second time in 10 days.

First reports said one American and three South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded in the shelling Thursday night.

The ground war in South Vietnam lapsed back into relative quiet, and heavy weather over the Hanoi-Haiphong area limited American pilots to strikes on supply lines. During the 110 missions flown Thursday, one Air Force Phantom was shot down by Red ground gunners and the two crewmen were listed as missing.

It was the 576th U.S. warplane reported downed over the North.

Another Phantom was set afire, with a big hole in the right wing and the fuselage raked with hits. The two crewmen decided to stick with the plane and flew it more than 100 miles to Da Nang, where it landed with one engine still on fire and a great orange fireball erupting from the tail section seconds after the crew jumped out.

Poverty Plans to Give Them Loving Care

By TOM SEPPY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The application for federal antipov-erty funds read simply: "Purpose of Program: tender Loving Care."

But therein lies the story of one of the smallest and least publicized, yet most successful programs in the antipov-erty campaign—Foster Grandparents.

Since August, 1965, the Office of Economic Opportunity has brought men and women over 60 together with young boys and girls. It says the combination has produced plenty of "TLC"—the now-familiar slang nickname for "Tender Loving Care."

Sargent Shriver, head of the OEO, believes the program is one of the most successful in the antipov-erty agency, although he admits some critics once opposed it.

"Many people said it wouldn't work because, they said, old folks didn't want to be bothered," Shriver reported recently. "But who has more love than a grandmother? It was a natural."

"We just brought together elderly persons without grandchildren and children without grandparents. It has worked wonderfully."

Applicants for the program must come from the lowest third of America's income scale—less than $3,000 for a family, $1,800 for an individual.

After screening and medical examinations, they received two weeks of orientation in child problems. Once accepted, they receive $1.25 an hour for a maximum 20-hour week.

"One of the most striking things about the grandparents is their on-time dependability," said one supervisor.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

LETTER OF THANKS

Dear Readers: Latest report from Vietnam Mail Call is that my HHU and YAFI readers have sent nearly 25,000 letters to servicemen overseas. Your thoughtfulness and concern make me realize all over again how great the American people are. I can't say it nearly so well as it is said in a letter I'd like to share with you:

Dear Mrs. Bottel: Mr. E. Paul Steward, Project Coordinator of VIETNAM MAIL CALL, recently wrote me advising of the good work that you have done through your column in obtaining mail for our servicemen here. We deeply appreciate your effort in helping to boost morale of our forces.

We could not hope to succeed in our mission to bring peace to this war torn land without the wholehearted support of those at home. Letters from home to our servicemen are tangible reminders of this much needed support. Your effort in this regard is commendable.

On behalf of all of the servicemen in this command, I extend heartfelt thanks.

Sincerely,
W. C. WESTMORELAND,
General United States Military Assistance Command, Vietnam

Truly, my readers deserve the praise, not I. But most of all, E. Paul Steward, who heads up VIETNAM MAIL CALL, should get a great big hand. In the two years since he and his associates in the South Columbus Merchants Association founded the project, they have airmailed some 750,000 pieces of mail from all over the world, to our fighting men in Vietnam.

Again, if you want to correspond with a serviceman, and I'm sure you do, send your letter in an unaddressed envelope; enclose it in another envelope addressed to: VIETNAM MAIL CALL, P.O. Box 3104-A, Columbus, Georgia, 31903. Send ten cents to cover cost of mailing, and it will be forwarded overseas. Include your return address on your serviceman's letter, so that he can reply.

... And add a little note to Mr. Steward, commending him for his work. Okay?—H.

Dear Helen: I am 30 have been corresponding with this nice young man who is in the service. We've exchanged pictures and know practically everything about each other, as far as you can go through letters. He will be out in September and he wants to take my vacation then, and meet him in California, so that we can talk about getting married. I live in New Jersey.

Page Three
I have a married girlfriend in California and can visit her. My problem is that my parents think it's a shameful thing for a decent woman to meet a strange man 3,000 miles away, practically alone. I tried to explain we'd be chaperoned, but they can't see it. So I'm asking you to arbitrate.—C.M.
Dear C: At 30, you should be making your own decisions, and I think you've made a good one. But remember, letters and pictures sometimes don't tell the whole story. You may not find marriage in California, but it will be a nice adventure anyway.—H.

PERSONAL TO "TIRED OF UPPITY RELATIVES": Why Lie?
Tell your husband the real reason you're against visiting those kinfolk this summer. "It's not the heat, it's the lack of humility that gets you down."—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU.

Goalby Off, Running in Buick Open

By CHARLES C. CAIN
GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — Even-tempered Bob Goalby, aided by a hot putter and an even hotter wedge, was off and running today in his bid for top prize of $20,000 in the $100,000 Buick Open.

The 36-year-old Palm Beach, Calif., golfer, once regarded as one of the most short-tempered members of the PGA tour, shot a red hot 69—three under par—in the opening round Thursday.

His feat was the more remarkable since it included taming the 585-yard 16th hole at Warwick Hills Country Club, generally rated as one of the toughest holes in golf.

Goalby put two tremendous wood shots together and found himself lying some 75 feet away from the pin. He wedged in from there for an eagle three.

His formula of no putts also paid off on the 11th as he chipped in from 40 feet for a birdie three.

The 69 left him a stroke ahead of the day's hard luck guy, Hugh Royer of Columbus, Ga., and Frank Beard of Louisville, Ky., both of whom had 70s.

Defending champion Phil Rodgers had trouble as he posted a 75.

There was considerable grumbling among the pros about the condition of the greens on the back nine, but none would be quoted.

The Warwick Hills course, in its 10th year as the site of the Buick Open, is in the midst of a three-year program of renovating and rebuilding of the course.

Tournament officials conceded the course was not in top shape but as Goalby pointed out, "The course isn't so bad. If the tournament were being held in August, I think we would find the fairways and greens in much better shape."

East All Star Basketball Team Named

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The East squad members announced Thursday for the East-West All-Star high school basketball game will average 6-foot-3 with eight players towering over the team average.

Dwight Jones, president of the Arkansas High School Coaches Association, announced the names of the 15-member team, which boast 6-foot-6 Ray Malcom of state champion North Little Rock as well as three players from teams which made the finals of the Class AA and B state tournaments.

The annual All-Star basketball game will be played at 2 p.m. Aug. 13, in Barton Coliseum here.

Members of the squad are Malcom, 6-foot-6, North Little Rock; Fred Mooney, 6-foot-3, Jonesboro; Walt Hampton, 6-foot-3, Blytheville; Robin Boge, 6-foot-3, Jacksonville; Joe Sawyer, 6-foot-8, West Memphis; Tommy Robins, 6-foot-2, Leachville; John Linck, 6-foot-2, Leachville; Jim Marsh, 6-foot-4, Russellville; Bobby Bartlett, 5-foot-11, Russellville; Richard Mullins, 6-foot-2, Gosnell; David McClain, 6-foot-5, Tucker; Jimmy Hargis, 6-foot-5, Hamburg; Frankie Jones, 5-foot-8, Palestine; Donnie Branscum, 6-foot-2, Oil Trough; and Tommy Watson, 6-foot-1, Greenbrier.

Coaches for the East are Glen Silver of Palestine, head coach, and assistants Dewey Snowden of Brinkley and Ronnie Garner of West Memphis.

Coaches for the West are Glen Silver of Palestine, head coach, and assistants Dewey Snowden of Brinkley and Ronnie Garner of West Memphis.

Horlen Hot, White Sox Beat Bosox

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Joel Horlen, off to his finest start, is chewing up opposing hitters almost as fast as he is tissues.

Tissues? That's right. The Chicago White Sox right-hander, who ran his record to 7-0 with a 5-2 victory over Boston in the first game of Thursday's doubleheader, attributes part of his success to tissue chewing. He says chewing gum bloats him and tobacco makes him sick, so he chews a couple of wadded tissues while pitching.

"It relaxes me," he says. His hurling, aided by his chewing, gave the White Sox a split when they lost the nightcap 7-3, remaining 1½ games behind league-leading Detroit, which took the day off.

In other American League action, Cleveland tripped Minnesota 7-5 on Max Alvis' two home runs; California edged Baltimore 6-5 on homers by Rick Reichardt, Jim Fregosi and Jimmy Hall, and the New York Yankees blanked Washington 6-0 in the only night game.

In the National League, San Francisco tumbled Cincinnati 8-5, Atlanta beat Los Angeles 5-4, and St. Louis halted Houston 6-2.

Horlen, who lowered his earned run average to 2.01, chopped down on Red Sox hitters with a six-hitter in his fourth complete game. He didn't even get through one wad of tissues.

The game lasted only two hours, 18 minutes, and he claims he gets 2½ hours from each chew.

"I guess this is my best start since I had an 18-2 record for the Alpine (Tex.) Cowboys in 1958," he said, recalling his semipro days. "The excitement of getting off to a good start wore off when I reached 5-0, but it's still mighty good to stay unbeaten."

The only runs off him came on Carl Yastrzemski's run-scoring double and Joe Foy's homer. But Gerry McNertney's first homer of the season with none on and a two-run blow by Ken Berry offset that brief Boston show of might.

With Horlen giving his jaws and his arm a rest, the Red Sox erupted for five runs in the second inning of the second game that started Gary Bell to a successful debut with Boston.

Bell, recently acquired in a trade with Cleveland, scattered nine hits, and Chicago could only touch him in the first inning when Tom McCraw singled in two runs and in the ninth when Ron Hansen homered.

Meanwhile, the Red Sox jumped on Bruce Howard in the second. Russ Gibson and Bell each singled in a run, Foy doubled in two and Yastrzemski singled home another. Yastrzemski also hit his 12th homer in the sixth.

Alvis gave the Indians a good start and a rousing finish as he opened the game with a homer and then climaxed a four-run ninth inning with a two-run blast, his ninth.

In between, Joe Azcue homered and Chuck Hinton tripled home Alvis, who had singled, for a 3-1 Cleveland lead. But the Twins knocked out Ed Connelly, just recalled from Portland, with four runs in the eighth before the Indians and Alvis came to bat again.

Reichardt's two-run clout in the sixth inning brought the Angels back from a 5-4 deficit after Fregosi and Hall had given them a 4-0 lead with two-run homers.

Frank Robinson's 16th homer with a man on started the Orioles back before Reichardt connected.

Joe Verbanic, hurling a four-hitter for his second straight starting victory since being called up from Syracuse, played the hero role for the Yankees. Along with stopping the Senators, he doubled home the first two runs of a five-run second inning with two out.

Jake Gibbs added a homer in the seventh as Verbanic allowed only one hit and two base runners after the third.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Yugoslavia threw the amateur World Basketball Championship up for grabs with a come from behind 73-72 upset victory over the United States Thursday night.

That gave the Yugoslavs, the defending champion, a 4-0 record in the round-robin to 4-1 for Russia and 3-1 for the United States. In all likelihood, the championship will be decided on Sunday, the final night, when Yugoslavia plays Russia and the United States meets Brazil.

The Americans meet Poland and Yugoslavia plays Uruguay tonight in their final games before the big windup on Sunday, Argentina plays Brazil and Uruguay takes on Poland in Saturday night's twin bill.

Two year ago, Adio Vic snapped the winning streak of the great Bret Hanover at 35 victories and Thursday night he won the 1½-mile, $50,000 Good Time Pace at Yonkers raceway as Romeo Hanover bowed after piling up 21 successive triumphs.

Little Rock Gets New Cage Coach

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Don Nixon, basketball coach at Southwest Junior High in Little Rock, was named head basketball coach at Little Rock Central High School Wednesday.

Nixon coached Southwest to the state AAA championship this year. He succeeds Jim Cathcart who has accepted a position as athletic director and supervisor of physical education at Hot Springs High School.

Angry Hockey Players Get Together

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
MONTREAL (AP) — Punch Imlach and Jack Kent Cooke, the last angry men at the National Hockey League meetings, finally have put their heads together—and made Red Kelly a King.

Kelly, a 20-year NHL stand-out, became the coach of the Los Angeles Kings Thursday after the Toronto Maple Leafs traded him to the expansion club for defenseman Ken Block.

The deal, announced as the NHL concluded its four-day convocation, broke a bitter stalemate between Toronto general manager Imlach and King's owner Cooke over Kelly's status in the expansion draft.

Kelly, promised the Los Angeles coaching job before the draft, expected the Leafs to clear the way for his selection by the Kings. But after Los Angeles picked nine other players, Imlach turned the tables by adding Kelly to Toronto's protected list.

After Thursday's windup meeting of the league's 12 club owners, Campbell announced a boost in minimum player salaries to $10,000—$2,500 higher than the minimum wage in major league baseball. The league president said the average base pay for a player during the 1966-67 season topped $18,000.

The All-Star Game was set for Toronto on January 16 with the Stanley Cup champion Leafs playing against representatives from all the other clubs.

Next year's post-season playoffs, however, still presented problems. Campbell's recommendation for interlocking semifinal series between the old and new clubs was to be considered by the league's Management Committee.

Braves Do Well Without Hank Aaron

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
So who needs Hank Aaron anyway?

Sure, he's leading the National League with 15 home runs and sure he's driven in 35 runs and scored 40 times. But, it's a fact that the Atlanta Braves have been better off without him.

Aaron missed his second straight game Thursday night and the Braves, who had dropped 10 of 13 games before he was sidelined, won their second straight, downing Los Angeles 5-4.

There were only two other games played on the slim National League schedule Thursday. San Francisco ended Cincinnati's one-run rut, beating the Reds 8-5, and St. Louis defeated Houston 6-2.

In the American League, New York blanked Washington 6-0, Cleveland whipped Minnesota 7-5, California nipped Baltimore 6-5, and Chicago split a doubleheader with Boston, winning 5-2 before losing 7-3.

Aaron is nursing a muscle pull in his side but, surprisingly, his bat hasn't been missed by Atlanta. The Braves pounded out a 13-5 victory over the Dodgers Wednesday and then beat Los Angeles ace Don Drysdale with a late rally Thursday.

Drysdale was working on a two-hitter and leading 4-1 until the seventh when Joe Torre and Rico Carty opened with singles and Clete Boyer doubled for one run. Denis Menke greeted reliever Phil Regan with a two-run single, tying the score.

The Braves pushed across the winning run against Regan in the ninth on a walk to Menke, a sacrifice, an infield out and Felipe Alou's single.

Drysdale drove home two of Los Angeles runs and scored a third.

The Reds' string of 11 straight one-run games ended when the Giants broke a 5-5 tie with three runs in the eighth inning.

Gift of 100 Acres Put Depot in Hope Instead of Guernsey

Crisis in '73 Saved by Dr. Taylor and J. W. Stephenson

C. A. Stephenson Recalls Father's Gift to Cairo & Fulton

ON AUGUST 20, 1873

First Train Came Through Then—and City of Hope Was Launched

When the Cairo & Fulton railroad—now the Missouri Pacific—pushed its track southwestward in 1873 the principal rail point in Hempstead county was anybody's choice, for the railroad crossed Washington and Spring Hill, and the rest was open country clear to Fulton.

Washington had the political power; Spring Hill was the home of the rich plantation owners operating in the Dooley's Ferry river-bottom lands; and Fulton, oldest of all, was the concentration point for river shipping for miles around.

Fulton was scheduled to be the terminal of the C. & F. railroad but the selection of an intermediate stop in the open country east of Fulton was anybody's choice.

Battle of Landowners
Railroad officials were negotiating for a depot at Guernsey, the story goes, when James W. Stephenson and Dr. A. A. Taylor, his nephew by marriage, joined in the battle between rival landowners.

Mr. Stephenson was the father of C. A. Stephenson, now of the City Street Department, and the grandfather of Roy Stephenson, former city alderman.

The Star photographed C. A. Stephenson on the Missouri Pacific depot platform, on the very site that his father gave the railroad company to assure the creation of the City of Hope.

James W. Stephenson and Dr. Taylor jointly donated 100 acres to the Cairo & Fulton, having first bought out the other heirs of a family estate in order to accomplish their community purpose.

The railroad located its depot in Hope. The first train crawled into Hope over the new track August 20, 1873—and the City of Hope was "on its way," being formally incorporated two years later, in 1875.

When the first train arrived that day in 1873, according to the story passed on to C. A. Stephenson by his father, a keg of whisky was knocked open and sold at a dime a drink.

It was an hilarious occasion, for it marked another chapter in the long and dangerous battle of building a railroad through a wilderness.

More is told of his father's experiences in those early days of Hope, by C. A. Stephenson.

Water 5c a Bucket Drinking water had to be hauled from the spring at what is now the Pines swimming pool, east of the city.

J. H. Davis had the first tank-wagon, and for good drinking water delivered in the city he got 5 cents per bucket.

Pretty soon a man named Nelson also started a tank-wagon route, and the price of drinking water dropped to 2½ cents per bucket.

The first public water-well was put down in what is now Division street, in front of Joe B. Greene's confectionery.

Further east on Division street, at the intersection with Main, where Jack's newsstand is, there used to be a forked tree—and this was the center of all political discussions.

C. A. Stephenson himself used to sit in the fork of that tree as a boy and listen to debates whose violence made up for language that a boy couldn't understand.

Many a deer was killed near that tree, for it was all more or less open country—and where the city hall now stands there was a pond which afforded good duck-shooting.

nection, in the Memphis conference and was appointed a junior preacher on the Heeman circuit. In 1859 he was transferred to the Couchite, now known as the Little Rock Conference, and stationed at Monticello, Ark. This was his first pastoral work in Arkansas. In years of service his name stands second on the roll of the conference. After serving a year at Monticello he was transferred to the Camden station, where in January 1867 the winter I first met him. In conjunction with his preaching he taught school. His first school was, for two years, in Graves county, Kentucky, the second one term, in Hickman county, Kentucky, where Union City now stands, the third, one term in Camden, Ark., the fourth, at what was known then as "The Academy," between Camden and Prescott in the country. This Academy is the same that had for principal Col. McMillian, father of our townsman, Dave McMillian, and he was assisted by a lady well known to our citizens as an assistant of C. A. Bridwell, in the early days of Hope. Miss Mollie Malone. While Brother Jewell was teaching at The Academy, he filled six different preaching places near Camden. While at Camden he was married to Miss Mattie Powell, daughter of Col. Ben Powell, whom many of our citizens will remember, in November 1861. There were born to them five children, three of whom died in infancy. Two daughters, Mrs. Fipkin of Arkadelphia, and Mrs. George Hughes, of Benton, are now living. His wife died at Pine Bluff in 1876. His second wife was Mrs. Mattie Duncan, whom he married in Cleveland county, Arkansas, in December 1877. There were born to them five children, Mrs. Annie Perrell and Horace Jewell of St. Louis, Mo., and Albert, Nick and Miss Linda of Hope. Mrs. Duncan had a daughter who is the wife of John H. Arnold.

Bro. Jewell is a Confederate veteran. At the beginning of the war he enlisted in Grinstead's Regiment and was made the Chaplain thereof. This command was engaged at Pleasant Hill, La., and at Jenkins Ferry, Ark., where Col. Grinstead was killed. Bro. Jewell organized a camp church in the regiment. The Colonel approved of the work so fully that he proposed to Bro. Jewell that he would assemble the regiment for services, but the Chaplain would not have that. He wanted voluntary and willing service, and thus did the best work of his whole ministry. He went always into battle with his regiment, not to fight but to care for his men, when killed or wounded. Bro. Jewell went to many of his pastorates, being sent by the Bishop for the special purpose of settling feuds in the church. Being a man of peace he ignored the feuds, and set the pace for co-operation in all church work and never failed to bring peace to his churches.

According to the policy of the Methodist church, four years is as long as a pastor can remain in charge of the same church. This rule enabled Bro. Jewell to cover nearly all the territory of his conference. A list of his pastoral charges which he filled will give an idea of the extent of territory which his work covered. He was pastor at Monticello, Camden, First Church Little Rock, Winfield Memorial Little Rock, Searcy, Prescott, Malvern, and Lonoke, and Presiding Elder of Camden District, Pine Bluff District, Little Rock and Arkadelphia Districts. This brought him in close touch with the various communities all over South Arkansas. He has kept

It matters not how long we live, but how.

Life is more than breath and the quick sound of blood.

It is a great spirit and a busy heart and so Bro. Jewell lived and while his face is turned toward the morning and by faith he can see that beautiful Temple that crowns the everlasting hill and the beautiful city of God, "The New Jerusalem" coming down out of Heaven, yet we pray God that his promise of long life may still hold good and that we may, for many years, on our streets, and in our churches greet the most and best beloved man in Hope.

a list of the places where he has preached in Arkansas, and they number two hundred and eighteen. His long residence in so many of the principal towns and cities of Arkansas, has enabled him to witness the growth along all lines of work, especially the growth of the church. In the year 1861 there was only one Methodist church in Little Rock with 185 members, while the conference minutes for the year 1914 show that there are now in the city nine Methodist churches, with a total membership of 4236, and the same holds good in all other towns of the state.

When Bro. Jewell came to this state there was not a single railroad in the state. A company had begun work on one to run from Grines Landing, on the Mississippi river to Fulton, on Red River, but the war put a stop to the work. When the war between the states broke out his father's family divided. Bro. Jewell and two brothers joining the Confederates and his father, remaining loyal to the "old flag." During the conflict, one of the brothers in the Confederate army run the lines and went to his father's home for clothing and help. He got back through the lines safely. His father was accused of harboring rebels and was arrested and carried before General Grant. The general ask him if the charge was true. He said it was, that the rebel was his son, naked and needy, and he just had to help him. Gen. Grant told him that he did what any father should have done and bade him go home. The two brothers in the Confederate army were killed on the battle field.

Bro. Jewell is on the superannuated list, yet he continues to preach at outlying stations near Hope. His sixty-one years in the service, fifty-seven of them in Arkansas, has demonstrated his loyalty to the Methodist church, yet way above and beyond any denominational connection, he is a devoted follower of Christ and loves Christians of all denominations, and feels at home in the pulpit of any one of the evangelical church, where he often preaches. It was my privilege at a funeral in the Baptist church of Hope of one of their members, when the pastor asked any present to say a word, to remark on the deceased's walk and work in our midst, that he had been a benediction to our people. It is a beautiful custom to bedeck the graves of our dead, yet a work of commendation, while one is alive is far better. I can say as much and more for Bro. Jewell as to his walk and work in Hope and all South Arkansas. It has been my great privilege to have known for nearly fifty years and have learned to love him as a brother. Fustus tells us:

It matters not how long we live, but how.

Life is more than breath and the quick sound of blood.

It is a great spirit and a busy heart and so Bro. Jewell lived and while his face is turned toward the morning and by faith he can see that beautiful Temple that crowns the everlasting hill and the beautiful city of God, "The New Jerusalem" coming down out of Heaven, yet we pray God that his promise of long life may still hold good and that we may, for many years, on our streets, and in our churches greet the most and best beloved man in Hope.

History of Hope

Presbytery, promising to be ever submissive to her authority. Hope, Ark., June 22, 1874.

With the foregoing as its constitution or declaration of its principles this began its work. The statement is made that the records of the session during 1874 were kept in manuscript, which are now lost and the writer, from his own knowledge and from information from the early members, is able to name many of the first communicants, Rev. Richard E. Lee was the first pastor. He was one of God's noblemen and his earnest Christian work and character impressed itself on the first settlers of Hope and that influence is still alive among us.

The first Elders were Adolphus Anderson and E. K. Williamson, Capt. Williamson's wife, A. Anderson's wife and several children, W. M. Wallis, Mrs. Sallie Wallis, his wife and their children, Walter and Mrs. Penny, M. C. Boyce and wife, Sam A. Knighten, Walter C. Old, David P. Dudley, T. M. Martin, Peter S. Borich, R. J. Anderson, Ellen J. Hanneycutt, Virginia Powell, Robt. P. Penny, Mary Sanderfur, W. M. Burt, Samuel W. Croasnoe and wife, Maggie, E. Fair, Barny S. Alsobrook, E. L. Benn, Mrs. F. Montgomery, Geo. W. Boyce, Wm. H. Fair, Lida Mack, Mary L. Bayless and others as the years went by. In the above names I am satisfied that I have named the original thirteen charter members, who organized the church.

As stated above, Rev. Richard E. Lee was the first Pastor and continued to serve it as such until about the 1st of October 1880. He came to Hope as soon as the town was located, did good and faithful work as long as he remained and was one of the best preachers this church has ever had. He was a brother-in-law to our present City Recorder, Fred Webb.

After Rev. R. E. Lee left, there was a vacancy for nearly eight-months so far as the record shows and then from the 23rd day of May to about the 1st of July 1881, Rev. W. J. Browning supplied the church, but, according to the record, was not called to the pastorate.

During this period of the history of the church, from the organization to June 30th, 1876, A. Anderson was the clerk of the session, and from that date to the time Rev. W. J. Browning left, W. M. Burt was the clerk of the session.

From June 1881, to June 1883 the church was without a pastor. On June 22, 1883, Rev. W. T. Sullivan being present was invited to moderate the session and he was at that meeting elected pastor and continued to be such till sometime in the year 1894. His was a very successful pastorate and many members were received during that period. W. E. F. Jones, T. B. Hughes and wife, J. R. Jones, Mrs. C. A. Forney, Geo. W. Sandifur, Annie Williamson, Lela Powell, Kate Bowden, T. M. Wallis are names among many others that will be remembered by our oldest citizens.

Rev. W. T. Sullivan moved from Hope to Benton county, Ark. He afterward joined the Presbyterian church, U. S. A. and is the pastor of that church at Ashdown, Ark. During the period of his pastorate Robert Penny was the clerk of the session, with Geo. W. Sandifur occasionally acting.

Soon after Rev. W. T. Sullivan left Rev. G. W. Reeves was employed to serve the church during the year 1894. He continued during the years 1895-96 and 97. Robert Penny continued as clerk of session till December 28, 1896, at which time N. W. Stewart was selected clerk.

On the 27th, of November 1898, Rev. J. H. Barkwell was the pastor of the church, and N. W. Stewart having resigned as clerk, Matt Galster was elected in his place and has been the clerk of session and is at the present time. Rev. J. H. Barkwell remained with the church till April 24, 1901. After that date Rev. R. H. Waldrop and Rev. Denwidie supplied the church for part of 1901 and till January 1903, when Rev. M. D. Williams was called as pastor and remained through 1904 and 1905.

On February 25th, 1906, Rev. A. B. C. Denwidie came to the church and during his pastorate this church went into the union with the Presbyterian Church U. S. A. and that is the connection at this time. On September 20, 1908, Rev. Denwidie resigned and was succeeded by Rev. J. M. Alexander who served till late in 1910.

In December 1910 Rev. W. Lee Gray took charge and remained with the church till June 26, 1913.

During the year 1914 Rev. W. T. Thurman and Rev. C. E. Hays served the church, when on December 7, 1914 the congregation again called Rev. J. H. Barkwell to be pastor and at the present time he is serving the church.

The following members have been members of the Bench of Elders: E. K. Williamson, A. Anderson, W. C. Boyce, Robt. Penny, B. S. Alsobrook, S. W. Croasnoe, W. E. F. Jones, J. R. Jones, John Taylor, J. S. Thomas, N. W. Stewart, Mat Galster, Sam Bowden, W. R. Payton, John Gibson, Fred Webb, A. J. Weaver, Edgar Briant, Van Ware, T. C. Jobe.

The records show that Robt. Penny, W. M. Burt and Van Ware have served the church as Deacons. The church building is situated on East Second avenue, and believe this has been its home throughout its whole history. It was at one time destroyed by a tornado, but was rebuilt. During the time the building was down, the Christian church invited the congregation to use their church, when not used by them.

The manse was built out in the Frisco addition, next to the home of Eld. Fred Webb. This was sold a few years since and the former residence of Mrs. C. A. Forney was purchased and is now the pastor's place of residence.

Chapter 7

A Biography

I have been working on the history of the Baptist Church during the past week, but failed to secure certain records and did not finish it. Hope to have it ready for the next week.

The history of a town or city is interwoven with human lives that it is necessary to write the histories of those men and women who have contributed much to its growth and moral uplift, and sometimes to relate some influences of men who have retarded its advancement and left an evil influence behind them.

I am sure that I present you the history of a man whom the citizens of Hope love and whose work and conversation has been good and uplifting since he came among us.

Rev. Horace Jewell was born in Nelson county, Ky., on the 3rd day of December 1832 and on his next birthday he will be eighty-four years old. His forefathers were from Virginia. He was raised by Christian parents. An incident in his boyhood will illustrate his willpower and marks, evidently, the beginning of his Christian character. He had been associating media experts are looking for fresh ways of conveying the Christian faith, and they're going to use "Expo '67" as a hunting ground.

"We've been too much bound in the church to writing and speaking, to the loss of other means," said the Rev. Dr. Blaine J. Fister, a National Council of Churches executive who heads the project.
Its stated aim is to gauge "the existing cultural and social situations of our times" as a stimulus to more vivid means of furthering "the life of the church."
Besides using the Montreal fair as a catalyst for ideas, the church specialists themselves will try some improvised, experimental modes of communication in reaction to it - without speech or alphabet.
"We're hoping for some breakthroughs that will help us reflect more sensitively the wonder and reality of the world, and new insights into its truths," Dr. Fister said.
The Interdenominational Conference on Religion, the Performing Arts and Technological Media is being sponsored next Aug. 26-Sept. 2 by the Project on Drama of the National Council's Division of Christian Education.
It is expected to draw about 250 specialists on stage, drama, television and films from various Protestant denominational agencies, as well as educators from church institutions.
"This is the first time that we've made the content of our program the real world, as portrayed there at Montreal," Dr.

Mau Maus Hid

Out 14 Years
Nairobi, Kenya (AP) - Two Mau Maus in antelope skin cloaks emerged from 14 years of hiding in the Kenyan jungles Sunday and were astonished to learn that Kenya had won its independence 3 1/2 years ago.
The bewildered pair, "Captain" Kimotho Ngonyo and "Officer" Kamina Guthuthwa, were further astonished to hear that the antiwhite Mau Mau terrorist campaign had ended more than a decade ago.
They told police at Kerogoya, on the slopes of Mt. Kenya, that they lost contact with other humans years ago and survived by hunting and trapping animals and raiding beehives.
The pair surrendered to police after an old man who found them in the forest brought them newspapers to show that Jomo Kenyatta is now president of independent Kenya.

It's an advanced solid rocket propellant which can be rolled to correct size before being slipped into a rocket motor. Newly developed, it may be used in small rocket field tactical weapons, offering greater safety to launch crews since it gets the missile away from the launch area before the main rocket motors start operating.

Churches to Make Use of Expo 67

Vitamins Are Important To Both Child and Adult

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What symptoms would a vitamin deficiency cause?
Could it cause soreness of the tongue, dryness of the mouth, pains in the fingers and toes or nosebleeds?

A—A deficiency of vitamin
A may cause night blindness and dryness of the eyes; of vitamin B-1 (thiamine) may cause nervous irritability, leg pains, wasting or atrophy of the muscles and water-logging; of vitamin B-6 (pyridoxine) may cause nervous irritability; depression, severe dandruff with seborrheic der-matitis and a sore tongue; of vitamin B-2 (riboflavin) may cause cracking of the corners of the mouth, sore tongue, pains in the eyes on exposure to light and blurred vision; of vitamin B-12 (cobalamin)
may cause anemia; of niacin may cause mental aberration, diarrhea and a skin rash; of vitamin C (ascorbic acid) may cause bleeding gums, nose-bleeds, brittle hair, dry skin, pain in the joints and slowness of healing of wounds;

and of vitamin D may cause rickets in children or osteomalacia (softening of the bones) in adults. No one of the vitamin deficiencies, however, would cause all of the symptoms you mentioned.

Q—I have heard that to be effective vitamin B-12 must be given by injection. If that is so, why is it included in multivitamin pills?

A—Vitamin B-12 promotes normal growth in children.
For this purpose, it may be given in tablets along with other vitamins if the child cannot get a balanced diet.
The vitamin is also a specific cure for pernicious anemia.
For this purpose, injections into a muscle are most effective. Once the disease is controlled a maintenance injection is needed only once every six or eight weeks. If, for any reason, it must be given by mouth it must be taken daily.

Questions About Draft Law Changes

EDITOR'S NOTE—Scores of proposed changes in the nation's military draft law have been bandied about in recent months. Now congressional negotiators have reached agreement on a proposed new law expected to win final approval soon. Here, in question and answer form, are details of how the proposed plan would work.

By ROBERT A. HUNT
WASHINGTON (AP)—The proposed new military draft law Congress is whipping into shape makes it easier for college students to win deferment.

And it permits President Johnson to go ahead with his announced plan to put 19-year-olds at the top of the available manpower pool. The present procedure drafts men in inverse order of age from 25-year-olds on down, but Vietnam war draftees have brought the age of inductees down to 19 or 20 in many draft board districts already.

The proposed new law, approved this week by Senate and House conferees, would go into effect for four years starting July 1.

It also provides for a speed-up in settling appeals from local draft board decisions, preserves the virtual autonomy of local draft boards and prohibits the President from changing the present selection system without another law. Johnson had proposed a national lottery plan of random selection.

College students who now must make a case before their local draft board to obtain a deferment—and then stay in the top half of their class to keep the deferment—hereafter would be deferred as a matter of legal right if they request.

And they wouldn't have to maintain a high scholastic standing. They would have to keep up with their classes and meet the academic and other standards of their school.

Here are some of the questions most often asked about the proposed new law and the answers as supplied by congressional draft experts:

Q. Does it make any changes in the present priority categories for induction?

A. No. These priorities are determined by local draft boards under presidential regulations. The President has said top priority for induction will be the 19-year-old group, preceded by students whose temporary deferments have expired. Top priority now are the 25-year-olds.

Q. When would the 19-year-old priority go into effect?

A. Whenever the President orders it. He could change his mind, but Congress has expressed its favor for taking the younger men first.

Q. Why the emphasis on 19-year-olds?

A. Combat commanders generally prefer that most of their new recruits be in the younger age brackets, saying they are more adaptable to training. Problems associated with family dependency are less frequent at such ages.

Q. What are the chances of being drafted at age 19?

A. Statistics show that about two of every seven persons now eligible for induction actually are drafted. The Pentagon expects to meet all of its monthly draft requirements from the 19-year-old group and from students whose deferments have ended. An estimated two million males reach age 19 annually.

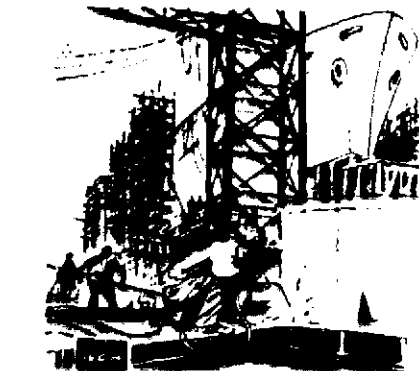

Q. If a young man isn't drafted at age 19, what are the prospects for being inducted later?

A. If he gets past 19 and world conditions don't get worse, his chances of not being inducted are very good. A new crop of 19-year-olds will go into the eligibility pool ahead of him.

Q. Would 19-year-old fathers or husbands be deferred?

A. Not automatically. Their local draft boards could defer them if extreme hardship would result from induction.

Girl Soldiers Used in Middle East Fighting

By PAUL KOHN
TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Trying to look as chic, as war in the desert will allow, Israel's shapely girl soldiers have been right behind the frontline troops in the Middle East war.

"They call them 'chen' for 'charm,'" said Col. Stella Levi, commander of the women's corps. The girls made an invaluable contribution to the blitzkrieg in Sinai and the conquest of the Jordanian bulge west of the Jordan River — as secretaries, field nurses and radio and telephone operators. They also belong to fighting units, but serve only in auxiliary capacities.

The Israeli girls were in the conquered areas of Sharm el Sheikh, Egypt, and Jericho, Jordan, today. Most are 18 to 20 year olds doing their 20 months compulsory military service, although several thousand women reservists up to age 34 have been on active duty this week.

"Look at that, they're our secret weapon in this war," said one air force sergeant pointing to three girls speeding along the runway at El Arish, Egypt, in an Egyptian Jeep.

Col. Levy said in an interview that her officers did nothing to discourage the girls from showing feminine charm. "It raises morale," Col. Levy said. The "Amazons in uniform" image of the Chen Corps is definitely out.

In the age of the miniskirt, Col. Levy admitted she was lenient to girls who raised their skirts a little above the knee length required by regulations. "But we will not accept all the dictates of Carnaby Street," she added.

"The Israeli girl is brought up from kindergarten age with a sense of equality. She attended coeducational schools. At the age of 18 the girls have reached the age of searching, and we give them guidance and perhaps a more mature outlook on life," said the Chen Corps commander.

Jewish womanhood's role has been inspired by Biblical heroines, not least among them the prophetess-general Deborah, Col. Levy pointed out.

Col. Levy started her military career as a volunteer in the Auxiliary Territorial Service of the British army during World War II. Four thousand Palestinian girls volunteered then to serve in the western desert. A handful of them now are the top officers in the Chen Corps.

Every Israeli girl who does not specifically declare herself to be orthodox is enlisted. All receive the same five-week basic training — drills, first aid, physical training and shooting automatic weapons.

The girls of the Chen Corps serve in the army, navy, air force and paratroop commands. A few who especially volunteer are parachutists.

After 20 months of service the girls remain in the reserves even if they are married. But once they have children they are discharged.

McCormick Place Being Cleaned Up

By RUSSELL LANE

CHICAGO (AP)—Nearly five months after fire ruined McCormick Place, wreckers still are dismantling the remains, and there's an empty ache in Chicago's pride and in its pocketbook.

The brave plans announced the day after the Jan. 13 blaze, to restore the 10-acre building—and add 204,000 square feet of floor space in the bargain—have hit two snags.

And while officials wrestle with the problems, super expositions and conventions are being booked elsewhere.

Chicago still does a booming convention business at the reliable old International Amphitheatre, but it has lost the trade of several hundred thousand potential visitors.

The Supermarket Institute convention, which draws 10,000 grocers and businessmen in related fields, was transferred to Cleveland. The annual meeting of the Trunk Body Equipment Association moved to Detroit.

A mammoth industrial show, the Railway Progress Exposition, was canceled.

The fire that virtually leveled McCormick Place struck only hours before the National Houseware Manufacturers' Association estimated total of much more extensive damage $100 million worth of exhibits than first estimated, especially in the Arle Crown Theater section, which was thought to have show was put together again and booked for June 12-16 in the International Amphitheatre. It is expected to draw 60,000 persons.

The Chicago Convention Bureau estimated these losses cost the city $30 million.

McCormick Place was opened in November, 1960, at the Lake Michigan end of 23rd Street. Beside providing exhibit space the size of six football fields, it boasted food-service facilities for 30,000 persons plus a 605-seat restaurant and a cafeteria capable of serving 1,800 meals an hour. In its south end was the 5,000-seat Arle Crown Theater for concerts, ballet and other cultural performances. It held 23 meeting rooms, a recital hall and an art gallery.

With its steel and reinforced concrete construction, it was hailed as fireproof.

The fire, however, fed on tons of flammable light wood, paper and cloth used for exhibit booths and decoration, and the effect was that of a furnace blaze. Steel pillars and trusses twisted and collapsed.

Damage-loss claims totaling $29.6 million were filed with insurers by the Metropolitan Fair and Exposition Authority.

But the claims were called excessive by Donald H. Mer-shon, spokesman for the insurance companies, and detailed negotiations in the dispute have delayed receipt of restoration funds.

Another delay has developed as engineering tests have shown much more extensive damage than first estimated, especially in the Arle Crown Theater section, which was thought to have escaped major damage. Ed Lee, manager of McCormick Place, said engineers were finding serious structural damage. He declined to fix a target date for completion of a restored McCormick Place.

Gerald G. Sanderson, executive director of the Chicago Convention Bureau, says an optimistic goal might be in early 1969.

Ladies Hosiery Night at the Saenger

The Saenger Theatre is starting a new innovation in Hope starting next Tuesday and Wednesday nights, which will be called Ladies Hosiery Night. Due to special arrangements which the manufacturer wishes to introduce a new line of ladies hosiery, it is possible for the ladies of Hope to obtain on Ladies Night at the theatre a pair of these lovely hose by enjoying a good movie that night and by paying the 10c postage and packaging charge—receiving a pair of lovely hose valued at $1.00.

The first ladies hosiery night show next Tuesday and Wednesday, The Year's Greatest Shock-er, "Blood and Black Lace." This is an opportunity for the ladies to have a night of entertainment and receive a bonus of a pair of hosiery as well. It is suggested on "Blood and Black Lace" by Mrs. Seamans that the ladies bring their husbands or boy friends, or they might be afraid to go home alone.

No Nation Is Alone If It Has Courage and Will

Officially the United States was neutral but privately Americans almost to a man rooted for the Israelis to whip the Arabs, and were jubilant when they did.

Sentiment couldn't be otherwise, considering American tradition and history. Here was a raw new country ganged upon by hostile neighbors and fighting alone for survival. It was a picture to remind us of our own ancestors' rebellion against the British empire and their desperate job of building a stable nation in the wilderness of the New World.

But no nation fights alone whose people have courage and the will to put it into united action.

Both of which virtues the Israelis do have—and in one short week their Arab foes sued for peace—the second time within 11 years that the Jews have turned the trick against Asia Minor's trouble-makers, Nasser's Egypt and her satellite Syria.

Two disastrous wars have made a comic-opera figure of the loud-talking Nasser, and twice the not-so-secret attempts of Russia to break into the Mediterranean and the Arab world have failed.

But the stout-hearted Israelis whipped the Soviet's pawns and so we shall have peace—at least for the next few years—in an area where old grudges and religious differences always pose the threat of a war which could involve the great powers.

Fortunately the world has escaped this calamity. And America remains committed to maintaining present national boundaries so peace will have a chance in the Near East.

$70 Billion for Defense Is Record

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP)—With a warning of more to come, the House Appropriations Committee recommended today record peacetime defense financing of $70.3 billion, including $20.3 billion for the war in Vietnam.

This is $1.29 billion less than President Johnson requested for the fiscal year starting July 1 and is in addition to an estimated $43.7 billion in other previously appropriated funds which remain available.

The amount recommended is $65.6 million more than appropriated for the present fiscal year.

Only once before, in the World War II fiscal year 1944, has Congress provided more defense funds. Appropriations that year were $66.4 billion.

The committee in a report written by Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., emphasized that none of the cuts would hamper the war effort and said more funds probably would be needed before year's end.

"The tempo and cost of the war in Southeast Asia are on an upward trend," the committee commented. "The costs of wars can never be projected precisely. The actions of the opponent weigh heavily on such matters."

It added that any request for more money would be given a high priority. The bill is scheduled for House action next week.

The cuts in the bill were aimed at Defense Department programs not directly related to the war. On some items, the committee recommended more than the President requested.

A large boost was $106.7 million to buy more all-weather aircraft for Vietnam use. Another was addition of $114.8 million to build a new nuclear-powered guided missile frigate plus $20 million for advance work on a second nuclear frigate.

Procurement of planes, tanks, ships and other military hardware accounted for $22.26 billion in the bill's total. Next largest allotment was $21.92 billion for paying military personnel.

The Air Force share of the total was $22.62 billion, the Army's $22.62 billion and the Navy's $19.83 billion. Interagency programs accounted for $3.77 billion.

By the end of the fiscal year, the committee said, there will be 3,464,302 military personnel in all the services, including 1,521,000 in the Army, 763,300 in the Navy, 294,900 in the Marine Corps and 887,100 in the Air Force.

Left to right: Arthur Strech, Bill Tolleson and Hubert Thrash. Hubert Thrash and Bill Tolleson are the newest members of the "Committee of 100," according to Arthur Strech, chairman of the Committee to raise funds for this organization.

Mr. Thrash and Mr. Tolleson said that they felt this committee to be a definite asset toward future industrial development for Hope and Hempstead County.

Attending the regular chamber of Attending the regular Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors meeting on Wednesday morning, Mr. Strech said his committee expected to have at least 50 members by the end of June and that he thought that the number would reach 100 during the year. Dr. Lester Sitzes asked that other members of the Board Assist Mr. Strech in this effort to reach the goal as set. Mr. Strech indicated that he had several others who had indicated that they were ready to come in and that his committee would get to them within the next few days.

Pilkinton Asks Jim to Cooperate

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—James H. Pilkinton of Hope, last year's unsuccessful Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, said Thursday that his cooperation with Jim Johnson, the party's unsuccessful gubernatorial candidate, had been to his own detriment.

"I cooperated with him, and with party leaders, many times against my own better judgment and at a sacrifice to my best interests. . . . Pilkinton said in a prepared statement. "I did nothing to injure him or his chances to be elected," he said. "I put no stones in his path."

Pilkinton said all of the other nominees "and most of the leaders and party officials" also had cooperated with Johnson, and that he had refrained from publicizing "the many things" on which he disagreed with Johnson.

"Now, many people are trying to rebuild the Democratic Party in Arkansas, and I believe we have the right to ask Jim Johnson to return the favor — to give us some of the same consideration, some of the same cooperation, that we gave to him in 1966," Pilkinton said.

Pilkinton didn't say why he had released the statement.

Israel Charges Cease-fire Violation, Invades Syria; Egypt Accepts UN Terms

U.S. Seeks Guarantees for Israel

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States today sought U.N. Security Council guarantees for Israel while the Soviet Union insisted that the Israelis immediately give up the hundreds of square miles of Arab territory they have overrun.

The 15-nation council scheduled an afternoon session to discuss the rival proposals to lay a foundation for a postwar settlement amid mounting indications that Israel has no intention of being pressured into relinquishing all her military gains.

Diplomats predicted defeat for the Soviet resolution demanding that Israel pull its troops back behind the 1949 armistice lines and abide by the demilitarized zones set up by the armistice.

The U.S. proposal calls for negotiations between the Israelis and the Arabs to secure withdrawal of troops, renunciation of force, "maintenance of vital international rights and the establishment of a stable and durable peace."

Observers at the U.N. took this to mean the Arabs should drop their 18-year-old claim that they are still at war with Israel, abandon their attempts to keep Israeli shipping out of the Gulf of Aqaba, and open the Suez Canal to Israeli ships.

Both resolutions also contained new calls for a cease-fire, but these lost their meaning when Egypt and then Syria accepted the council's earlier truce resolutions.

During the council meeting Thursday afternoon, Hans R. Tabor of Denmark, council president, announced that Egyptian Ambassador Mohamed Awad el-Kony had told him he wanted to make "a very important statement."

While U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg was introducing his resolution, el-Kony was on the telephone to Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad in Cairo. He returned to the council chamber, told Tabor he did not want to speak and handed Secretary-General U Thant a letter.

The letter said the Egyptian government had "decided to accept the cease-fire call of the council on the condition that the other party ceases the fire."

About six hours later, Damascus Radio announced that Syria also had accepted the cease-fire.

Israel and Jordan had already reached a truce on their front. Iraq was the only active belligerent that had not accepted, but its troops were on the Jordanian front, and King Hussein said Thursday they, too, were observing the cease-fire.

Head Start Program in County

The Head Start program will be operated again this summer in local schools beginning June 12 and ending August 4. The program is financed by the federal government.

Classes will be held in Brookwood and Garland elementary schools daily from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Lunch will be served to all children and transportation will be furnished if necessary. Children who have attended Kindergarten will not be eligible but those who have not and who will be entering first grade this fall will be.

Any first grade child in need of additional first grade experience may attend. Classes to be held outside Hope include two at Blevins, four at Washington and one or two at Saratoga.

Says Israel Gains Respect

10 Killed, U.S. Ship Still Afloat

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH
WASHINGTON (AP)—The battered USS Liberty, a Navy communications ship mistakenly attacked by Israeli boats and planes off the Sinai Peninsula, steamed today toward a mid-Mediterranean rendezvous and medical aid for its wounded.

The Liberty was to meet two destroyers from the U.S. 6th Fleet, on alert in the Mediterranean since the Arab-Israeli war broke out. Pentagon officials said each carried a ship's surgeon.

Defense Department spokesmen said a revised tally showed 10 sailors were killed in the attack—which came without warning—and 100 were wounded, 20 of them seriously. Names of the dead sailors were expected to be made public today.

AP correspondent Bob Horton cabled from aboard the USS America in the 6th Fleet that destroyers Davis and Massey were sailing at 30 knots to meet the crippled ship, which was 450 miles to the east at the time of the incident Thursday.

Horton said each destroyer has one doctor and two hospital corpsmen, but their sick bay facilities were small. There were some indications, he said, the seriously wounded men would be taken aboard larger ships in the fleet.

Israel promptly apologized for the attack, but not before the Navy ordered planes from the 6th Fleet's two attack carriers, the Saratoga and the America, to scramble and head for the scene.
